1. Place feet pegs into the open holes found on the base.

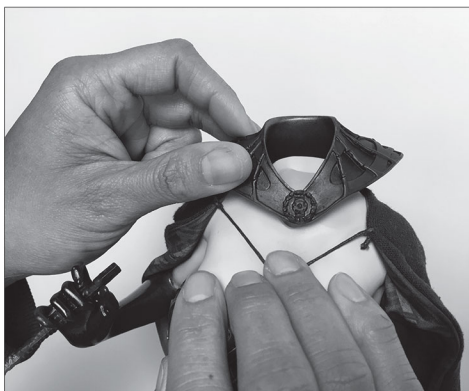

2. Bring the cape around the figure so the pattern is on the interior, and loop the string right above the chest.

3. Tie a knot that will rest right above the chest. Be sure not to make it too tight, so the shoulder plate can rest comfortably.

4. Check to make sure the cape on the back is resting at the height shown above.

5. Hold the tie string down, and place the shoulder plate over neck.

6. Insert the head into the neck socket, be sure to be careful of the hair braids.

7. Slide the blade and hilt into the sword handle making sure not to wear off any paint in the process.

8. Insert the left arm, making sure the skull is facing the proper direction.
